CANDIDATE INFORMATION

Kelly Cooper has built his life around service, stewardship, responsibility, and family. A United States Marine Corps veteran with deployments overseas, Kelly's commitment to duty and accountability has carried into every chapter of his professional life.

He is a long-time Arizona entrepreneur and business owner, with experience leading teams, managing budgets, and helping organizations grow. Kelly now works with New York Life, helping individuals and families build security through responsible long-term planning and smart financial protection. In addition, he works with Sysco Foods, supporting restaurant operators across the Valley, strengthening local business, supply chains, and economic development.

Kelly is currently advancing his education at Grand Canyon University, continuing to develop professionally in marketing, leadership, and communication. As a father, an advocate, and a steward of long-term planning, Kelly values sustainability, strategic resource management, and transparency. Whether raising his family in Arizona, running businesses, or supporting local operators, Kelly brings the same mindset: protect what matters, plan for the long haul, and serve with integrity. That is why he is committed to SRP's mission. Kelly believes water and power are Arizona's lifelines, and he is ready to help safeguard reliable resources, responsible rates, and a sustainable future for generations to come.
